i think the risk is too great to have any more of these toxic chemicals used in the united states. we already have more than enough such toxic chemicals that are insinuated into the body load of every single american. it is time to call enough and put a moritorium on new ones. we have already poisoned most american air/water and soil - the only ones who benefit are the pollution profiteers.

it is time to call a halt to the poisoning of america ourtesy of our tax supported institutions that are supposed to be occupied in protecting us, and have been failing to do so.
